

Upcoming Programs for Students

Mark your calendars!

FEMALES in FINANCE

INVESTMENT BANKING

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1

Our Females in Finance program is designed to provide insight into various functions within Stout for women interested in pursuing finance-related careers. These virtual, interactive workshops offer students an opportunity to gain hands-on experience while networking with Stout colleagues from across the firm. This workshop on December 1 will give you an introduction to a career in investment banking.

During this two-hour virtual workshop, you will discover firsthand what it's like to be part of our dynamic team by hearing from our recent graduates-turned-analysts and our seasoned female professionals. You will gain an understanding of what a complex business deal entails from start to finish by looking at a sample deal. Explore how analysts contribute to complex transactions, gaining a real-world perspective on investment banking.

FLF

INVESTMENT BANKING

FRIDAY, JANUARY 19

Our Future Leaders in Finance (FLF) program provides undergraduate students with the opportunity to work with and learn from Stout's industry leading professionals. Selected candidates will spend a day with Stout's finance professionals participating in panels, a case study competition, and interactive presentations. A full-day program on Friday, January 19, will give you an introduction to a career in investment banking.

Junior Banker Panel

Recent graduates-turned-analysts share insights into Stout's work culture and their journey. Discover firsthand what it's like to be part of our dynamic team.

Case Study Competition

Learn what a complex business deal entails from start to finish, and then work side by side with a Stout professional on a sample business deal. Explore how analysts contribute to these complex deals, gaining a real-world perspective on investment banking.

Senior Banker Panel

Engage with seasoned Stout professionals. Hear from accomplished bankers as they discuss their rich work experiences, offering valuable insights into career growth within the world of finance.